Termination of proposed merger with Complexica

ASX: PRO
Market Announcement

Sydney — 26 November 2025 —Prophecy International Holdings Ltd (Prophecy) refers to its announcement on 7 August 2025 advising that it had agreed to acquire Complexica Pty Ltd (Complexica), subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions, and that it had entered into an Implementation Deed setting out the terms of the all-scrip merger (Proposed Merger).

Prophecy and Complexica have today mutually agreed to terminate the Implementation Deed in accordance with its terms. As a result, the Sale and Purchase Agreements entered into between Prophecy and each holder of Complexica shares, have automatically terminated in accordance with their terms.

Prophecy therefore advises that the Proposed Merger will no longer be implemented.

After careful consideration, the parties have mutually agreed that the Proposed Merger is not in the best interests of either party or their respective shareholders at this time. Terminating the Proposed Merger enables the Prophecy Board to focus the Company's resources on the business.

Prophecy and Complexica will consider if there are mutually beneficial opportunities to collaborate in relation to product implementation going forward.

In its announcement on 7 August 2025, Prophecy also announced the intention to undertake an on-market share buy back of up to $1.5 million worth of ordinary shares, subject to completion of the Proposed Merger. As the Proposed Merger will no longer complete, Prophecy advises that the proposed on-market share buy back will not proceed.
