- Wagtail underground mine transitioned from development to production during the period.
- Rapid adjustment to COVID 19 impacts insulated the company from material adverse effects due to the pandemic. Operations on both sites continued uninterrupted throughout the period.

- $20.0M expenditure contributing to Norseman Sole expenditure requirement of $50M (approximately $27M spent to date).

Managing Director Paul Cmrlec said:

“The Board is pleased with the progress made across Pantoro’s operations. Adjustment to operations at Halls Creek has resulted in lowering of the cost base, and fulfilment of gold hedging positions in April 2020 has now returned the project to being strongly cashflow positive.

Progress at the Norseman Gold Project has met all company expectations and we look forward to bringing this important production centre to construction and then production in the near term.

We thank all of our stakeholders for their ongoing support throughout the past year. In particular the dedication of employees that experienced significant change and inconvenience due to the COVID 19 Pandemic has been critical for our success.”
