During the quarter, the portfolio performed extremely well (+20.9%) as shown above with the Company's Net Tangible Asset Value (NTA), as at 30 September 2020 (before estimated tax on unrealised gains) closing at 160.3 cents per share, up by 17.1% on the prior quarter. This compares with a 0.1% increase in the ASX All Ordinaries Index over the quarter.

INVESTMENT ACTIVITY

During the quarter, we added Lovisa (ASX: LOV) which is an ultra-niche, vertically integrated fast fashion jewellery retailer that has a strong business model driving its competitiveness. Lovisa develops, designs, sources, and merchandises 100% of its Lovisa branded products and has a strong outlook for international growth.

MARKET COMMENTARY

The COVID-19 saga continues, with uncertainty and volatility reigning supreme. The pandemic continues to weigh heavily on economic activity as government intervention continues to place considerable restrictions through lockdown measures. While the previous quarter saw investors return to equities, the resurgence of COVID-19 in some regions and the upcoming US Presidential election in November has raised the level of uncertainty in these markets.

The US has seen early signs of an economic recovery, while the Eurozone and the UK continue to battle the pandemic. In Asia, countries such as Singapore, Thailand and Malaysia continue with hard lockdowns, with reductions in tourism being critical to their poor performance.

US equity markets maintained the previous quarter's positive trend, with the Federal Reserve being accommodative through stimulus measures. Unemployment declined to 8.4%, with better performance across manufacturing and retail. Notably, the Fed announced changes to inflation targets where they adopted an average inflation target - lengthening the equity market expansion.

In Australia, we have been one of the lucky countries in terms of infection rates from COVID-19 and the flow-on economic impact. While our relatively strong performance and management of the pandemic has positioned us well, we have not escaped the effects as we have entered our first recession since 1991. We note, despite entering a recession, that Australia has performed materially better than many other Western countries. Despite this overall success, Victoria re-entered into strict lockdown procedures as infection rates spiralled out of control. The Australian Governments' JobKeeper and JobSeeker programs, as well as mortgage relief programs for households and small businesses, have provided robust support for the economy. The focus now as we head into the end of the calendar year, is how the Australian Government will attempt to manage the economy.

Many Australian companies reported their year-end financial results during August, with most providing earnings guidance earlier on the implications of COVID-19, which helped reduce the element of (negative) surprise. Accordingly, most results were above expectations with the Australian All Ordinaries up by 0.1% for the quarter, and the Small Ordinaries up +4.9%, respectively. The AUD remained relatively stable against all major currencies during the quarter, posting +3.8% against the US Dollar (71.7 US cents), -0.4% against the Pound (55.5 pence), and -0.6% against the Euro (61.1 cents).
