

AusCann Progresses Market Launch and Clinical Results

Highlights

- Robust financial position – $16.8 million net cash balance at 30 September 2020
- Roll-out of hard-shell capsules based on Neuvis® platform in Australia under special access provisions for medicines
- Phase I clinical results confirm superior pharmacokinetic profile of Neuvis®-based product
- New CEO, Mr Nick Woolf, appointed in August 2020

28 October 2020 - AusCann Group Holdings Limited (ASX: AC8) ('AusCann' or 'the Company'), is pleased to announce an overview of its quarterly activities for the three months ended 30 September 2020.

Financial Update

AusCann had a cash balance at 30 September 2020 of $16.8 million (30 June 2020: $19.2 million), and no debt. This strong capital position supports the continued progress of the Company's growth strategy.

Net cash outflows for the quarter were $2.4 million. Research and development costs of $750K for the period were mainly allocated to the finalisation of the Company Phase I clinical trial with Nucleus Network.

AusCann's proprietary hard-shell capsules, a 1:1 ratio of THC:CBD based on the Neuvis® platform, continued to gain market share during the quarter for Australian patients under special access schemes. In addition to GPs, the Company has had good traction with specialists in the fields of pain, palliative care and rehabilitation. Due to commercial terms of the Company's distribution agreement, cashflow from these sales are received up to two months after the point of sale and, as such, the cash recognition for the quarter is delayed as compared to the sale.

There were no related party payments for the period other than the director fees paid from the pool of fees as approved by the shareholders ($79,381).

Operational Update

The Company has commenced a restructuring programme during the period to reduce the cash burn on corporate and administrative activities. The Company is focusing its expenditure on value-adding R&D and IP, in addition to leveraging its state-of-the-art medicinal cannabis facility in Western Australia.

AusCann reported the results of its Phase I clinical trial evaluating the pharmacokinetics and safety of the Neuvis®-based hard-shell capsules in healthy volunteers. The data from this open-label, cross-over study showed that absorption of active cannabinoids with AusCann's Neuvis® technology was similar to the comparator oil and the Therapeutic Goods Administration (TGA)-registered oral spray, Sativex®, but with a lower peak concentration. This resulted in fewer side-effects, which is an important positive outcome to support the differentiation of AusCann's capsules and their appeal to prescribers and patients.

The Company has extended its medical outreach programme, including the sponsorship of various virtual events in Australia that have helped position and solidify the Neuvis® brand with healthcare professionals.

AusCann's second product based on an enhanced Neuvis®2.0 hard-shell capsule technology delivering CBD only for pain and neurological symptoms, such as anxiety, seizures, insomnia, social withdrawal and irritability, is in formulation development. It is expected to be launched in Q4 FY2021.

Leadership Transition

During the quarter, the Company appointed Mr Nick Woolf as Chief Executive Officer, replacing Mr Ido Kanyon. Mr Woolf has over 25 years of experience in the life sciences industry as well as a background in commercial M&A transactions.
