Medlab Clinical (ASX:MDC) a company with a portfolio of novel drug candidates enhanced by its drug delivery platform and used for the treatment of chronic pain and disease, is pleased to provide a business update and quarterly cash flow report for the period ended 30 September 2020 (Q1 2021).

Highlights

- Preparation for global Phase III study of NanaBis™ advancing with George Medical appointed to manage US sites
- Data from real-world observation study of NanaBis™ shows 59.5% reduction in pain scores
- 1,473 bottle of NanaBis™ were dispensed during the quarter, representing an increase of 29% year on year
- Well capitalised to accelerate clinical and commercial activities with continued cash management
- Australian patent granted for NanoCelle® delivery platform
- Rationalisation of the domestic nutraceutical business continued with a recorded increase in after-discount sales of 16%

Dr Sean Hall, Managing Director of Medlab Clinical said, "This quarter we have continued to develop commercial pathways for the company and differentiate ourselves as a fast-moving biotechnology company with a global opportunity for our non-opioid alternative for the treatment of cancer-induced bone pain. Operationally we have been focused on advancing the development of our lead candidate NanaBis™ as we prepare to file an investigational new drug application with the US FDA later this year and initiate a global Phase III study.

"As one of the most clinically advanced medicinal cannabis products for the treatment of cancer-induced pain, we are attracting the interest of the global investment industry and pharmaceutical industry. In October we were invited to present at Jefferies Medicinal Cannabis summit and the BIO investor forum – two high profile international forums."

Cannabinoid portfolio update: NanaBis™ Observational Study Progress update, signs CRO for NanaBis™ Phase III trial

Medlab published the third monitoring report for its ongoing study of NanaBis™, which is being developed as a non-opioid alternative for the treatment of cancer-induced bone pain. The study showed a 59.5% reported reduction in pain (unadjusted) based on average dose of four sprays per day. Importantly, these results are consistent with an earlier Phase I/II clinical trial completed at Royal Sydney North Shore Hospital earlier this year.

The consistent results being achieved across the clinical trials for NanaBis™ are encouraging and are a further step in achieving the goal obtaining regulatory approval and providing cancer patients with an alternative to manage pain.

During the quarter, Medlab signed an agreement with leading global CRO George Clinical Pty Ltd, to provide clinical services support for Medlab’s upcoming NanaBis™ Phase III trials.

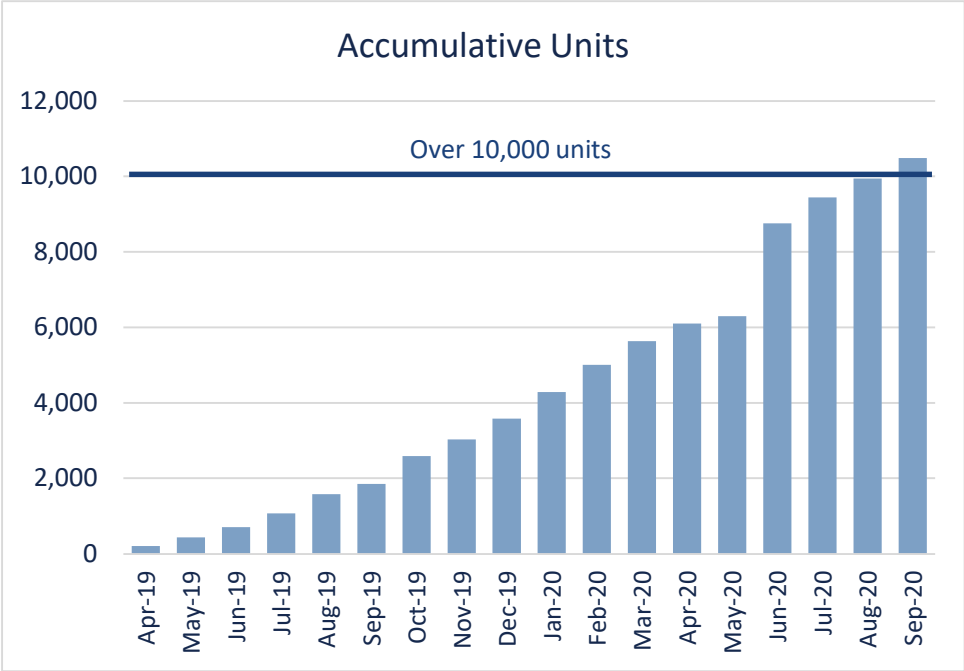

George Clinical Pty Ltd will partner with Medlab to provide site selection and feasibility, trial recruitment and ongoing site management for US trial sites of NanaBis™. They will also implement data services for all Phase III sites.

The US market is a priority for NanaBis™ Medlab has a business development team focused on US NanaBis™ deals.

Use of NanaBis™ under the Special Access Scheme in Australia provide access to a growing user base and revenue stream. Sales this quarter were 1,473 units, up 29% year on year but down slightly on the previous quarter (1,575 units, Q4). In Q2 the company experienced supply issues for NanaBis™ which has had a short-term impact on momentum of prescribed use under the Special Access Scheme. Since moving all manufacturing to TasAlk, there is sufficient supply of material to meet expected demand under SAS and for a Phase III trial.

A further 257 units of NanoCBD™ - a CBD only formulation - were sold during the quarter.

Medlab has reached the 10,000 unit milestone in products sold under the SAS.

Australian patent granted for NanoCelle® Delivery Platform

Medlab was delighted to have an Australian patent granted for its NanoCelle® drug delivery platform during the quarter. This was the first patent granted for the technology and provides validation of the science behind NanoCelle® and its innovative mode of action.

The Australian patent provides protection until March 2036. Medlab has also filed patent applications in the US, EU, NZ, SG, HK and Canada.

NanoCelle® is used to improve drug solubility issues, making drugs more easily metabolised, absorbed and consequently utilised and has application to many prescription and over the counter medications. Medlab’s NanaBis™ formulation has been optimized using NanoCelle® and provides a strong proof of concept for the effectiveness of this drug delivery platform.

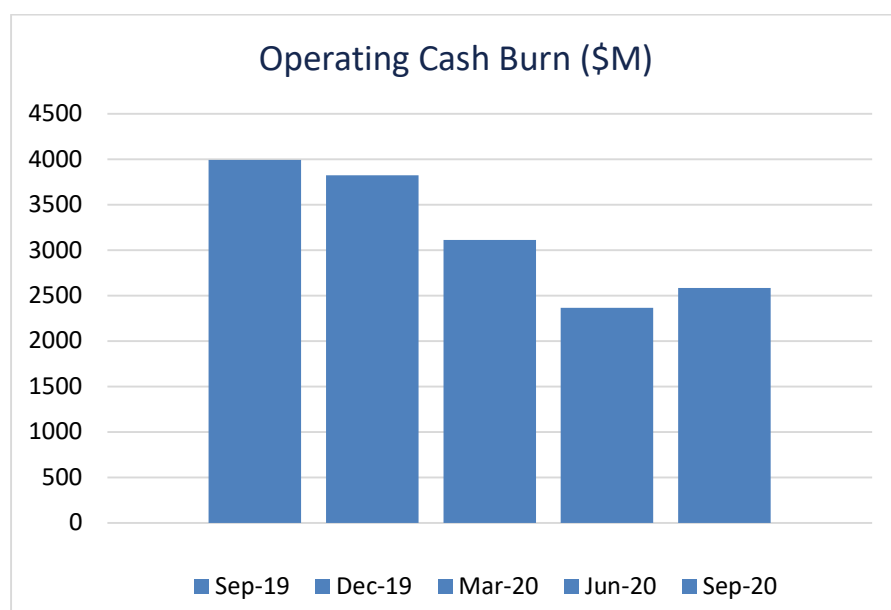

Medlab continues to seek partnerships to drive value from NanoCelle®. There are significant partnership opportunities for NanoCelle® across pharmaceuticals, food technology, consumables and other industries.

Nutraceuticals update

The Nutraceuticals business continued its expansion via banner pharmacies, global partners and enhanced digital sales and marketing. Sales for the quarter were $1.11M (after discount) up 16% on the previous quarter, showing signs of recovery from the initial impact of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Cashflow and corporate highlights

Medlab reported cash receipts of $1.4M (steady from the previous) and net operating cash outflow of $2.02M (vs $1.99M in previous quarter). Excluding the government incentives, the net operating burn was $2.584m. Cash continues to be managed responsibly.

The company's cash balance as of September 30 was $8.38M. This included the proceeds of the Share Purchase Plan completed in July 2020 which raised $1.57M before costs. Subsequent to the end of the quarter, the company received an R&D tax credit of $ 2.44m. This is not reflected in the cash balance as of 30 September 2020.

Mr McAllister will leverage his experience in consumer health/FMCG, global pharmaceutical industry and leading an ASX listed company to help guide the business through its next stage of growth.
