Kleos Space (ASX: KSS, Frankfurt: KS1), a space-powered Radio Frequency Reconnaissance data-as-a-service company, provides the following update for the quarter ending 30 September 2020 (Q3 2020), incorporating its Appendix 4C cash flow report.

“The maiden launch of Kleos satellites is now only weeks away,” said Andy Bowyer, CEO of Kleos Space. “Kleos Scouting Mission satellites are the foundation of Kleos’ future constellation, which will deliver unprecedented situational awareness at sea with high value operational coverage over key regions of maritime interest including the Strait of Hormuz, South China Sea and African coast.”

The launch of the Kleos Scouting Mission is scheduled to occur on 7 November 2020.

Business Summary¹

At the date of this report, the Company has secured more than 130 worldwide active B2G and B2B opportunities across its pipeline in multiple jurisdictions including USA, UK, EU, Latin & South America, Middle East, South Pacific and Australia, representing significant potential annual revenue following launch and commissioning phase. Approximately 25% of the pipeline is made up of Channel Partners (resellers) further multiplying opportunities by the number of end users they each have access to.

¹ This information is provided on a consolidated basis as individual opportunities are not considered singularly material for release through the ASX platform.

Figure 1: Pipeline summary. Note; each reseller/channel partner opportunity represents multiple potential end user licence opportunities

The Kleos business model is to create subscription-based revenues from delivery of essential data to government and commercial entities around the globe. Kleos will be the first company to fly clusters of four satellites to accurately detect and locate the usage of the RF spectrum by legitimate and illegitimate actors. The data is collected and downlinked from the satellites then processed through the Company's proprietary algorithms. Once 'packaged' into data products and transferred to our licenced subscribers 'as-a-service', the same data can be sold unlimited times creating annuity type revenues. Kleos data product pricing scales with the launch of additional clusters collecting more data. The 2nd Cluster is targeted for mid-2021 and the 3rd cluster in late 2021. Each additional cluster generates further data sets increasing revenues correspondingly.

Subsequent Events

- Atlantis SIM appointed Exclusive Ecuador Agent
- Peruvian Geospatial Intelligence Partnership with Geomática Soluciones S.A.C.

In October 2020 Kleos concluded agreements with Ecuadorian Atlantis SIM and Peruvian Geomática Soluciones S.A.C.

Ecuador

Atlantis SIM was appointed Kleos' Exclusive Territory Agent for Ecuador. Atlantis SIM is a team of exceptionally experienced and qualified professionals (ex-Navy officers) in diverse areas of the maritime domain (fishing, oceanography, security) led by CEO, Willington Renteria who is the former Director of the Oceanography Institute of the Ecuadorian Navy and an international tsunami expert.

The two-year engagement will provide direct tactical and operational support to Kleos' customers in Ecuador.

Peru

Kleos has finalised a Distribution Partner and Data Integrator Agreement with Geomática Soluciones S.A.C. (Geomática), a leader in geospatial intelligence in Peru.

Geomática was founded in 2011. It consists of a group of multidisciplinary professionals within the maritime domain who have extensive experience in handling the latest generation tools applied to the field of geotechnology, in order to meet the needs of clients from various sectors.

The agreement allows Geomática to leverage the radio-frequency reconnaissance data-as-a-service (DaaS) captured by Kleos to provide its end customers with additional insights for their intelligence requirements in the maritime security domain.

Under the agreement, Geomática will integrate Kleos data into products and workflows.

Scouting Mission Launch Update

On 16 October the Company advised that its team; Gavin Bowyer, supported by Ed Stevens from In-Space Missions and Marcy M. Rugland from rideshare and mission management provider Spaceflight Inc had arrived in Chennai, India in preparation for the launch.

On 29 October 2020, the Company advised that the satellite preparations were completed successfully and the launch of the four Kleos satellites planned on-board PSLV-C49 mission has being scheduled for 7 November 2020 at 1502 Hrs IST (20:32 AEDT), subject to weather conditions.

Kleos Appoints SYPAQ as Exclusive ANZ Agent

On 2 September 2020, Kleos advised the appointment of innovative engineering and systems integration company, SYPAQ Systems Pty Ltd (SYPAQ) as Australia and New Zealand (ANZ) Exclusive Territory Agents. SYPAQ has extensive reach into Defence, Security and Government providing advanced engineering and technology services and solutions.

Acting as Exclusive Territory Agents, SYPAQ will, for a period of two years, provide direct tactical and operational support to Kleos' customers in Australia and New Zealand. SYPAQ will be the primary point of contact for both sales and support in the region. Kleos is of the view that by appointing SYPAQ as Exclusive ANZ Agents, considerable operational cost benefits will be achieved against establishing a regional Kleos operations office.

Kleos to Launch Second Satellite Cluster on SpaceX Falcon 9

On 13 August 2020, the Company signed a contract with rideshare provider Spaceflight Inc to manifest a 2nd cluster of Kleos satellites on the SpaceX Falcon 9 launch scheduled for mid-2021.

This mission will be named Polar Vigilance Mission (KSF1) and is a cluster of four satellites, launching into a 500 km Sun Synchronous Orbit. The Polar Vigilance Mission will enhance the Company's RF geolocation data delivered by the Kleos Scouting Mission by covering areas North and South of the Scouting Mission 37-degree inclined orbit (Figure 2) in addition to increasing overall coverage time in the equatorial region.

Kleos' objective is to own, launch and operate up to a maximum of 20 clusters of satellites, creating a constellation that provides critical coverage for monitoring global events and key locations of interest.

Contract for second cluster of four satellites for the Polar Vigilance Mission (KSF1) signed with Innovative Solutions in Space (ISISpace)

On 22 October 2020 the Company announced it had engaged The Netherlands based Innovative Solutions In Space B.V. (ISISpace), one of the leading companies in the nanosatellite field, to provide turnkey satellite build and support for the Kleos Space – Polar Vigilance Mission (KSF1).

With 15 years of experience in providing turn-key small satellite missions, ISISpace is well placed to provide a reliable build and launch support for Kleos' KSF1 cluster of four satellites. Their services will include design, development, production, testing, launch integration services and Launch and Early Orbit Phase (LEOP) support.

The contract price is 2.1 million EUR and will be payable in milestone-based instalments over a period of approximately 10 months. The delivery of the multi-nanosatellite system is planned to take place in Q2 2021.

Outlook

Post the launch of the Kleos Scouting satellites and their subsequent commissioning, data will be produced that will provide the Company with early revenues leading to the 2nd cluster launch where revenues can be increased further. Total available funding at the end of Q3 was A$1.85m, and in addition to approximately A$1.5m funds received from option & warrant conversion post end of quarter, providing sufficient funds to cover close to 3 quarters of operating costs at the level of Q3 operating costs.

The directors consider the Company's outlook to be positive. The Company continues to build a strong pipeline of future sales with more than 100 active opportunities across the entire pipeline which provide a solid base to the Company's outlook following deployment and commissioning of satellites.

Comment on 4C

The aggregate amount of payments to related parties and their associates included in item 6.2 in the 4C is for financing of staff costs paid through 100%-owned subsidiary, Kleos Space Ltd.
