Key Risks

RISK FACTORS

There are a number of factors, both specific to Comms Group and of a general nature, which may affect the future operating and financial performance of Comms Group, its products and services, the industry in which it operates and the outcome of an investment in Comms Group. There can be no guarantee that Comms Group will achieve its stated objectives or that forward looking statements will be realised.

This section describes certain, but not all, risks associated with an investment in Comms Group. Each risk set out below could, if it eventuates, have a materially adverse impact on Comms Group's operating performance, financial performance, financial position, liquidity and the value of its shares.

Before deciding to invest in Comms Group, potential investors should read this entire Presentation and the risk factors that could affect the financial performance of Comms Group. You should carefully consider these factors in light of your personal circumstances and seek professional advice from your accountant, stockbroker, lawyer or other professional adviser before deciding whether to invest. You should also consider publicly available information about Comms Group, including information available on the ASX, before making an investment decision.

SPECIFIC RISK FACTORS

The directors of Comms Group ("Directors") believe that there are a number of specific factors that should be taken into account before investors decide whether or not to apply for New Shares. Each of these factors could have a materially adverse impact on Comms Group, its growth plans, operating and product strategies and its financial performance and position. These include the following:

Covid-19 overall impact

The ongoing Covid-19 pandemic has had a significant impact on the global and Australian economy and the ability of businesses, individuals and governments to operate. Emergency powers and restrictions have been enacted on an international, Federal and State level in Australia which, amongst other things, has restricted travel and the ability of individuals to leave their homes and travel to places of work.

Given the high degree of uncertainty surrounding the extent and duration of Covid-19, it is not currently possible to assess the full impact of Covid-19 on Comms Group's business. A number of aspects of Comms Group's business may be directly or indirectly affected by government, regulatory or health authority actions, work stoppages, lockdowns, quarantines and travel restrictions associated with Covid-19, including disruption to Comms Group's supply chain and workforce.

There is a risk that if the duration of events surrounding Covid-19 are protracted, Comms Group may need to take additional measures in order to respond appropriately. There are also other changes in the domestic and global macroeconomic environment associated with the events relating to Covid-19 that are beyond the control of Comms Group and may be exacerbated in an economic recession or downturn. These include but are not limited to: (i) changes in inflation, interest rates and foreign currency exchange rates; (ii) changes in employment levels and labour costs; (iii) changes in aggregate investment and economic output; and (iv) other changes in economic conditions which may affect the revenue or costs of Comms Group.

Key Risks

Competition risk

Comms Group operates in a competitive market. A loss of customers may negatively impact earnings. Additionally, the risk from increased competition may negatively impact on sales and profitability. The actions of an existing competitor or of new competitors may make it difficult for Comms Group to grow or maintain its business, which in turn may have a material adverse effect on its profitability.

There is a risk that new entrants in the market may disrupt Comms Group's business and existing market share. Existing competitors and new competitors may engage in aggressive customer acquisition campaigns. Such competitive pressures may materially erode Comms Group's market share and revenue, and may materially adversely impact Comms Group's revenue and profitability.

Information technology risk

Comms Group will rely heavily on information technology systems to ensure the efficient and effective operation of its business. These information technology systems could be damaged or cease to function properly due to any number of causes, such as catastrophic events, power outages, security breaches, computer viruses or cyber-based attacks and malicious or deliberate hacking could cause major disruption to Comms Group's business and could adversely affect its operating and financial performance. While there are contingency plans in place to prevent or mitigate the impact of these events, if they were to occur and Comms Group's disaster recovery plans do not effectively address the issues on a timely basis, Comms Group could suffer interruptions in its ability to manage its operations, which may adversely affect its business and financial results.

Further, as with all technology based products, there is a risk that Comms Group's technology and platform could be superseded by new technologies that have various advantages over Comms Group's offerings.

Intellectual property and patent risk

The ability of Comms Group to maintain protection of its proprietary intellectual property and operate without infringing the proprietary intellectual property rights of third parties is an integral part of Comms Group's business. There can be no assurances that the validity, ownership or authorised use of intellectual property (both owned and licensed) relevant to Comms Group's business cannot or will not be challenged.

Maintenance of reputation

Comms Group's success is reliant on the maintenance of its reputation and any brand names. Any factors that damage the reputation of Comms Group may potentially result in a failure to win new customers and impinge on the ability to maintain relationships with existing customers, as well as affect its ability to attract key employees. If any of these occur, this could materially adversely affect Comms Group's business, operating and financial performance.

Asset impairment risk

Changes to the carrying amounts of Comms Group's assets could have an adverse impact on the reported financial performance of Comms Group in the period that any impairment provision is recorded and could increase volatility of reported earnings in cases where there is further impairment or a reversal of impairment provisions that were recorded in previous periods.

Key Risks

Dividends

There is no guarantee as to future earnings of Comms Group or that Comms Group will be profitable at any time in the future, and there is no guarantee that Comms Group will be in a financial position to pay dividends at any time in the future.

Next Telecom Pty Ltd acquisition – Due diligence

Comms Group has undertaken a due diligence review in respect of the Next Telecom Pty Ltd acquisition. Despite taking reasonable efforts, Comms Group may not have been able to verify the accuracy, reliability or completeness of all the information provided against independent data. There is a risk that information disclosed to Comms Group was incomplete, inaccurate or unreliable and there is no assurance that the due diligence was conclusive or identified all material issues in relation to the Next Telecom business. There is also a risk that the due diligence conducted has not identified issues that would have been material to the decision to enter into the acquisition agreement. A material adverse issue that has not been identified in the due diligence process could have an adverse impact on the financial performance or operations of Comms Group.

Next Telecom Pty Ltd acquisition – Synergies

An important factor to the success of the Next Telecom Pty Ltd acquisition will substantially depend on the extent to which Comms Group is able to realise costs synergies. There is a risk that unforeseen issues or difficulties may arise that may result in integration benefits and/or synergies for Comms Group being delayed, or being achieved only in part, or not at all. Areas of particular risk include:

- difficulties or unexpected costs in reducing corporate and administration costs and rationalising duplicated operating infrastructure and corporate support services;
- difficulties or unexpected costs relating to integration of management and technology systems;
- unexpected losses of key personnel during or following integration and possible reduction in employee morale caused by uncertainty arising from the acquisition;
- higher than expected levels of client attrition arising as a result of the acquisition, and anticipated benefits of the acquisition, not occurring to the extent anticipated; and
- the extent to which cost savings are offset by any incremental compliance or operating costs that arise as a result of Comms Group being listed on ASX and subject to requirements of continuous and periodic disclosure that are not currently relevant to Next Telecom Pty Ltd.

In addition, the process of realising costs synergies from the Next Telecom Pty Ltd acquisition may require management of Comms Group to devote significant time to this task, which may decrease the time they have to manage Comms Group's businesses and to focus on generating additional revenue.

Key Risks

GENERAL RISK FACTORS

Share market

On completion of the Placement, the New Shares may trade on ASX at higher or lower prices than the issue price. Investors who decide to sell their New Shares after the Placement may not receive the amount of their original investment. The price at which the New Shares trade on ASX may be affected by the financial performance of Comms Group and by external factors over which the Directors and Comms Group have no control.

These factors include movements on international share and commodity markets, local interest rates and exchange rates, domestic and international economic conditions, government taxation, market supply and demand and other legal, regulatory or policy changes.

Investors should consider the historical volatility of Australian and overseas share markets.

The Directors make no forecast in regard to the strength of the equity and share markets in Australia and throughout the world.

Dependence on general economic conditions

The operating and financial performance of Comms Group is influenced by a variety of general economic and business conditions, including levels of consumer spending, inflation, interest rates and exchange rates, access to debt and capital markets and government fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies.

A prolonged deterioration in general economic conditions could be expected to have a materially adverse impact on Comms Group's business or financial condition. Changes to laws and regulations or accounting standards which apply to Comms Group from time to time could adversely impact Comms Group's earnings and financial performance. The Directors make no forecast in regard to the future demand for Comms Group's products and services.

Tax risk

Changes to the rate of taxes imposed on Comms Group (including in overseas jurisdictions in which Comms Group operates now or in the future) or tax legislation generally may affect Comms Group and its shareholders. In addition, an interpretation of Australian tax laws by the Australian Taxation Office that differs to Comms Group's interpretation may lead to an increase in Comms Group's tax liabilities and a reduction in shareholder returns. In addition, any change in tax rules could have an adverse impact on the level of dividend imputation and franking. Personal tax liabilities are the responsibility of each individual investor. Comms Group is not responsible either for tax or tax penalties incurred by investors.

Litigation risk

Comms Group may in the ordinary course of business become involved in litigation, claims and disputes (for example, with suppliers or customers). Any litigation, claim or dispute could be costly and damaging to Comms Group's reputation and business relationships, which could have an adverse effect on its financial performance and industry standing.

Key Risks

Legislative and regulatory changes

Legislative or regulatory changes in jurisdictions in which Comms Group operates, including property or environmental regulations or regulatory changes in relation to products or services sold by Comms Group, could have an adverse impact on Comms Group.

Funding risk

There is no guarantee that the monies raised under the Placement will be adequate or sufficient to meet the ongoing funding requirements of Comms Group under its current business plan, notwithstanding that the Directors presently expect this to be the case. If Comms Group requires access to further funding at any stage in the future, there can be no assurance that additional funds will be available either at all or on terms and conditions which are commercially acceptable to Comms Group. If Comms Group is unable to obtain such additional capital, it may be required to reduce the scope of its anticipated activities, which could adversely affect its business, financial condition and operating results.

Speculative investment

The above list of risk factors ought not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by Comms Group or by investors in Comms Group. The above factors, and others not specifically referred to above, may in the future materially affect the financial performance of Comms Group and the value of the securities offered under the Placement. Therefore, the shares to be issued pursuant to the Placement carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of those securities. Potential investors should consider that an investment in Comms Group is speculative and should consult their professional advisers before deciding whether to apply for securities pursuant to the Placement.
