Sydney, Australia, 28th January 2021: Global lifelong learning platform technology company OpenLearning Limited ('OpenLearning' or 'the Company') is pleased to provide its Appendix 4C cash flow statement for the quarter ended 31 December 2020 (Q4 FY20), along with the following update. The Company's fiscal year coincides with the calendar year.

OpenLearning reported record full year cash receipts from customers and continued robust growth across all key metrics including SaaS customers, users, enrolments and annualised recurring revenue (ARR) during the fourth quarter, as well as the signing of transformative new agreements with top tier universities.

OpenLearning's ARR grew to $1.345m in Q4 FY20, an increase of 42% YoY and 10% QoQ. There was also a substantial rise in Platform SaaS clients, which increased 169% YoY to 167. The Company also recorded a net increase of 24 platform customers over Q4 FY20. The Company's ARR includes SaaS revenue from both its online learning platform and the BEST Network, which also operates on a subscription business model.

The Company reported record annual cash receipts of $3.18m for FY20, up 42% on the prior year. Quarterly cash receipts from clients totalled $737k in Q4 FY20, which was up 44% on the prior year and down 5.6% on the preceding quarter's figure as a result of a shift from fee-for-service professional services to a revenue share model for short courses and micro-credentials.

Transformative agreement with UNSW Global to deliver the UNSW Transition Program Online

On 28 October 2020, OpenLearning announced it had signed a five-year license agreement with the University of New South Wales Global (UNSW Global) to design and deliver its new four-month online Transition Program for international students to gain entry into UNSW.

The agreement opens the door to a significant new revenue stream for OpenLearning. It expects to receive net revenue of between $6,000 and $9,000 for each student in the program after fees paid to UNSW Global and based on the estimated enrolment fee per student. The agreement is yet another example of OpenLearning's ability to enable digital transformation of teaching and learning at top tier universities.

The Company is responsible for managing the student lifecycle from application through to teaching and assessment. The online program will provide students with more feedback from teachers and peer interaction than other existing online programs.

The Company will incur upfront costs for the establishment, design and delivery of the program and will expand its Australia-based team accordingly. Under the agreement, UNSW Global is responsible for the marketing of the program and providing curriculum, content, quality assurance and certification. The program, which remains on track to commence in March 2021, is designed to provide the same outcomes for international students as UNSW Global's existing face-to-face Transition Program.

Expansion into health education with UNSW and The University of Queensland for the BEST Network

On 23 November 2020, OpenLearning announced it had signed a five-year agreement with the UNSW and The University of Queensland (UQ), which saw it become the technology and operating partner of the Biomedical Education Skills and Training (BEST) Network. BEST is a member-based collaboration of seven Australian universities (UNSW and UQ included) and five international universities.

Under the agreement, the Company will maintain and continue to develop BEST Network's Slice application, which has a collection of over 21,000 medical images. Slice, which is complementary to the OpenLearning platform, will enable some of the practical components of high-value medical courses to be delivered entirely online.

OpenLearning will receive a percentage of the membership fees paid by BEST Network members in consideration of its supporting and operating the BEST Network's services. OpenLearning plans to grow the BEST Network through marketing, enhancing its services and exploring opportunities for micro-credentials in the health sector in the form of OpenCreds.

The recurring revenue generated as a result of the BEST Network will be included in the Company's reported SaaS ARR. The agreement is strategically important and has the potential to forge a deeper relationship between the Company and medical faculties at leading Australian and overseas universities.

Cash receipts by category

Operating cash outflow widened to $1.813m in Q4 FY20 as a result of investments in revenue share projects, including UNSW Transition Program Online, OpenCreds Investment Fund/Open Universities Australia and BEST Network, as well as further development of the OpenLearning platform and an expansion of the sales and partnerships team. Cash outflow also included one-off expenses of $667k related to capital raising costs, insurance, professional costs and client-specific cloud hosting services, of which $311k were operating outflows. Operating cash outflows are expected to remain higher during the setup phase of these initiatives, however, they are expected to begin generating revenue in FY21.

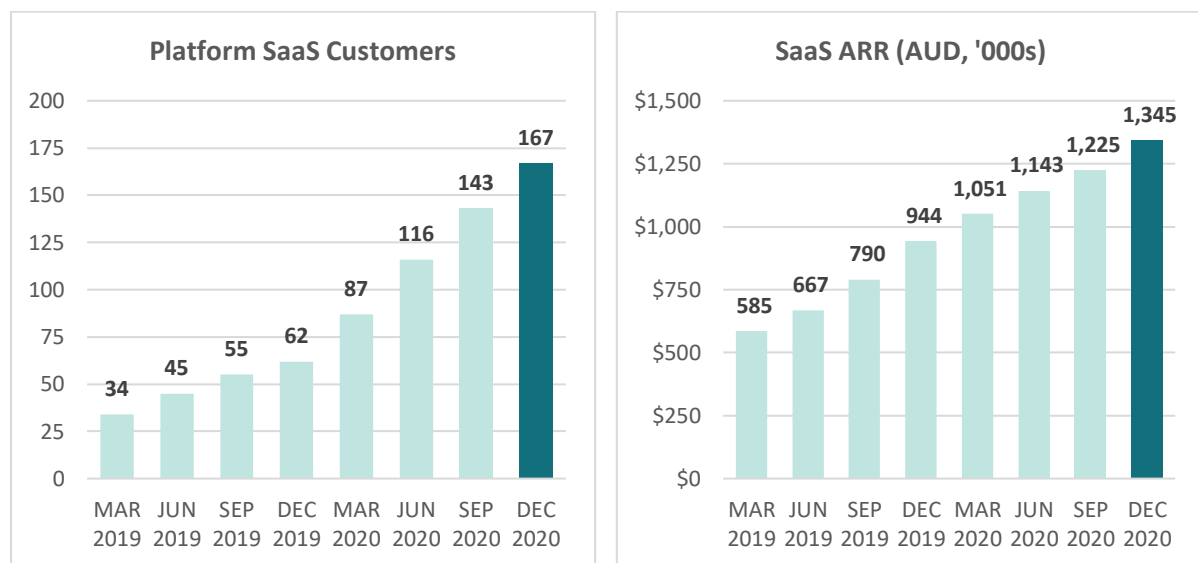

The Company's strategy is to grow SaaS revenue by providing its learning platform to education providers on usage-based SaaS agreements ('Platform SaaS'). It also generates revenue by providing professional services to education providers to assist them in designing courses ('Learning Services') and by taking a share of the revenue from courses sold through OpenLearning's course marketplace ('Marketplace'). Cash receipts from customers by category for Q4 FY20 were as follows:

- Platform SaaS: $380k
- Learning Services: $106k
- Marketplace: $251k

The Company's cashflows from its Platform and Marketplace in aggregate grew 51% YoY as clients continued to migrate to online courses to take advantage of a shift towards online education.

As of 31 December 2020, OpenLearning had over 4.4m enrolments from over 2.7m registered learners. OpenLearning's continued growth in enrolments and learners has seen the Company maintain its ranking as one of the world's largest online education platforms. The following charts highlight the Company's track record of growth over the past eight quarters.

Images 1 - 4: Platform SaaS Customers (paying >$500/year), SaaS ARR (includes the OpenLearning platform and BEST Network), Cumulative Unique Users, and Cumulative Enrolments, Mar 2019 – Dec 2020

The figures for Q4 FY20 includes a platform SaaS client for which confirmation of the renewal has been received but signed agreements have yet to be exchanged due to the COVID-19 lockdown in Malaysia. Q4 FY20 SaaS ARR includes contracted revenue from the BEST Network that was finalised post quarter end.

OpenCreds and Australian micro-credential markets continue to evolve

In July 2020, OpenLearning introduced OpenCreds, the first cross-sector micro-credentialing framework designed for Australia and aligned to the Australian Qualification Framework. In November 2020, OpenLearning released a version of OpenCreds for the Malaysian higher education sector. On the 25th and 26th of November, OpenLearning held two virtual Micro-credential Symposiums for Australia and Malaysia respectively, with over 400 attendees at each symposium.

To accelerate adoption of OpenCreds, the Company signed agreements with Open Universities Australia (OUA), Australia's largest higher education marketplace, for it to utilise the OpenLearning platform for micro-credentials and to jointly supporting the development of 30 OpenCreds on a revenue share basis with a new grant program. At the same time, the Company launched the OpenCreds Investment Fund to develop OpenCreds on a revenue-share basis in partnership with private education providers and has since signed up eight higher education providers to build 26 OpenCreds.

DeakinCo., part of Deakin University and a global leader in micro-credentials, focusing on workforce capabilities, signed a platform agreement for OpenLearning in July and has since launched six OpenCreds amongst other short courses targeting domestic and international students. The Company is receiving significant interest from universities and education providers in Australia and Malaysia to utilise its platform for OpenCreds.

Capital raised to fund strategic growth initiatives

OpenLearning ended its FY20 with a strong cash position of $8.595m, bolstered by a successfully completing a $5.939m institutional placement in order to deliver on revenue-share partnerships and near-term growth initiatives.

Specifically, proceeds from the placement will be directed towards funding:

- The setup and delivery of the UNSW Transition Program Online, which is expected to provide a significant new revenue stream to the Company
- The design and development of OpenCreds and qualifications on a revenue share basis
- Strategic acquisition opportunities
- Continued developments and enhancement of the OpenLearning platform

- Working capital requirements

The Company made substantial progress in Q4 FY20 towards these initiatives.

OpenLearning Group CEO & Managing Director Adam Brimo said: “This past quarter was transformative for the Company with the signing of a five-year agreement with UNSW Global to deliver a ground-breaking four-month UNSW Transition Program Online, and a five-year agreement with UNSW and The University of Queensland for the BEST Network. At the same time, OpenLearning continues to build scale, with key operational and annualised recurring revenue metrics again higher in the December quarter in our core platform SaaS business. We are continuing to invest in revenue share opportunities to accelerate growth in FY21, including raising awareness of OpenCreds and building out a library of quality courses in coming quarters. We are grateful for the support of our partners and the dedication of our team this past year, enabling the Company to achieve record cash receipts and build a strong foundation for growth.”

Ends.
