CEO UPDATE

Zip Managing Director and CEO Larry Diamond said:

"Highlighted by the acquisition of US-based Quadpay, the December half was transformational and saw the Company position itself as a truly global BNPL leader with its footprint across 9 markets. As always, a massive shout out and thank you to the extremely hard-working Zip team (Zipsters), and our extensive customer, retailer and shareholder communities.

We saw record results across all key drivers with most metrics up 100% YoY and the Company now annualising over $7.5b in transaction volume at December. The business has strong momentum entering H2 as it expands its business in the US and launches the UK.

We genuinely believe the opportunity for Zip significantly grows each and every day as we continue to execute, build momentum, and accelerate the global shift away from the broken and unfriendly credit card, towards a better, fairer digital alternative.

Even though we are 7 years in, global BNPL adoption remains in its infancy - there is approximately $22t in total addressable market (TAM) volume with BNPL penetration of global ecommerce spend only 1.6%. We are well on our way to becoming the first payment choice, everywhere and every day."

- Pro-actively exploring the best entry path in targeted jurisdictions.
- Focused on lifting, shifting and scaling Zip's offering globally.
- Responsible for global merchant integrations with a number of recent successes (Boohoo, Cotton-On, Adyen, JD Sports).

Recent activity resulted in a number of BNPL investments in Europe and the Middle East as well as well as preparations for a soft launch in Canada:

- Minority investment in a leading BNPL player in the United Arab Emirates, focused on the Gulf Cooperation Council. Strong team on the ground led by experienced co-founders.
- Minority investment in a leading BNPL player in Eastern Europe (Czechia and Poland) operating since 2014, with ability to passport licensing across the EU.

REGULATORY ENVIRONMENT - BNPL CODE OF PRACTICE

Zip welcomes the introduction of Australia's BNPL industry Code of Practice, which is effective from next week.

Peter Gray, Zip's Co-Founder and Chief Operating Officer, said:

"The BNPL Code of Practice will establish a set of minimum standards to make sure our industry acts in the best interests of Australians.

"Zip has been a key contributor to the code, and we believe it is a strong first step to lifting standards across the industry. Zip will, however, continue to implement our own higher standards, particularly around customer suitability, which we believe deliver superior outcomes for our customers."

"Zip has done ID and credit checks on every customer since inception. As a result, we see 1 in 100 customers late in any month, compared with up to 1 in 6 for credit card users that are paying interest and behind with their debt."

The voluntary code has been developed by the Australian Finance Industry Association (AFIA) in consultation with consumer groups, government, regulators, and other BNPL providers.
