Clarification of Q4 FY21 written sales orders growth

Nick Scali Limited ("NCK" or "the Company") would like to make the following clarification to recent media articles in the Australian Financial Review regarding the Company's FY21 results and outlook for FY22.

The article "Nick Scali builds buffer against supply chain squeeze", contained the following: "Wilsons analyst John Hynd said orders appeared to have fallen 22 per cent in the June quarter". This is incorrect, and written sales order growth for the quarter ended 30 June 2021 was positive, and did not decline by 22% as quoted in the article.

The Company provides this clarification to ensure that NCK securities are traded on correct information.
