

Bellevue bolsters project development team with appointment of two leading resources executives

Bellevue Gold Limited (ASX: BGL) is pleased to advise that it has appointed highly experienced resources executives Darren Stralow and Bill Stirling to the positions of Chief Executive Officer and General Manager respectively.

Mr Stralow and Mr Stirling, both of whom are Mining Engineers, have had distinguished careers with Northern Star Resources (ASX: NST), among other leading mining and contracting groups.

Mr Stralow was most recently Chief Development Officer at Northern Star. Prior to this, he held several other senior positions at Northern Star and led the integration of the Company's Australian business units (Jundee, Kanowna Belle and EKJV Operations). As General Manager of Operations, he oversaw several operational expansions and recreated safety systems to drive industry-leading safety performance.

Mr Stralow also has strong ESG credentials, as demonstrated by the roles he played in overseeing multiple power upgrade projects which improved efficiency, reduced emissions and investigated renewable options at multiple Northern Star operations.

Mr Stirling's roles at Northern Star included General Manager of Jundee, General Manager of the Kalgoorlie Operations (Kanowna Belle, Kundana, SKO) and General Manager of Bronzewing. He was also responsible for significant operational expansion projects at Jundee, contract negotiations, capital projects, team development and systems implementation.

Bellevue Managing Director Steve Parsons said Mr Stralow and Mr Stirling would bring a wealth of experience in the key areas of project development and operations, commercial management and contractual negotiations.

"Darren and Bill have extensive skills and experience in developing and operating gold projects," Mr Parsons said. "With all our funding now in place, we are ramping up development at Bellevue. This will see us finalising key contracts for the supply of equipment and services, completing a host of important commercial agreements and, of course, building the mine and processing plant."

"When it comes to ensuring these activities are completed on time and on budget, there is nothing like having done it all before. Darren and Bill have done all this before and done it very successfully, so we look forward to them joining what is an outstanding team of committed people who are determined to maximise the great opportunity we have at Bellevue."

With the re-structuring of the project development team, Mr Craig Jones role as Chief Operations Officer has come to an end, though he will remain engaged in a consulting capacity to support the transition. Mr Parsons thanked Mr Jones for his significant contribution to the project's development.

"Craig has played a central role in advancing Bellevue to this stage, helping create significant value along the journey," he said.
