Form 10 at this stage, the Company has elected to take a cautious approach and wait for further SEC comments on the Form 10 before it is lodged. This necessitates the Form 10 financials being updated to 31 December 2021.

Given the above, the Company now anticipates completing final conditions precedent for the listing by 25 February 2022 to enable the second court hearing to occur in the Federal Court of Australia on that date. This timeline is likely to then result in initial trading of 5E Advanced Materials, Inc securities on the Nasdaq exchange in mid-March 2022 consistent with the Likely Timeline below.

If, however, further time beyond 9 February 2022 is required to update the Form 10 financials to 31 December 2021, the Company anticipates completing final conditions precedent for the listing by 5 March 2022 to enable the second court hearing to occur in the Federal Court of Australia on that date. This timeline is likely to then result in initial trading of 5E Advanced Materials, Inc securities on the Nasdaq exchange in late March 2022 consistent with the Alternate Timeline below.

The Company has provide both timelines for completeness.

Under either timeline, trading in ABR shares will continue until close of trading on the Effective Date, at which time ABR will apply for its shares to be suspended from official quotation. Accordingly, for those ABR shareholders who receive 5EA CDIs as their Scheme Consideration, there is not expected to be any interruption in trading as part of the transition from ABR shares to 5EA CDIs.

Marketing initiatives to support the listing remain scheduled for February 2022 in Australia, Asia and the United States. The Company has also commenced discussions with reputable U.S. equity research analysts for potential equity coverage of 5EA.
