Our journey: Delivering growth and value

Listed on the ASX in May 2015 with a view to grow our distribution and build scale, and use this to drive margin growth

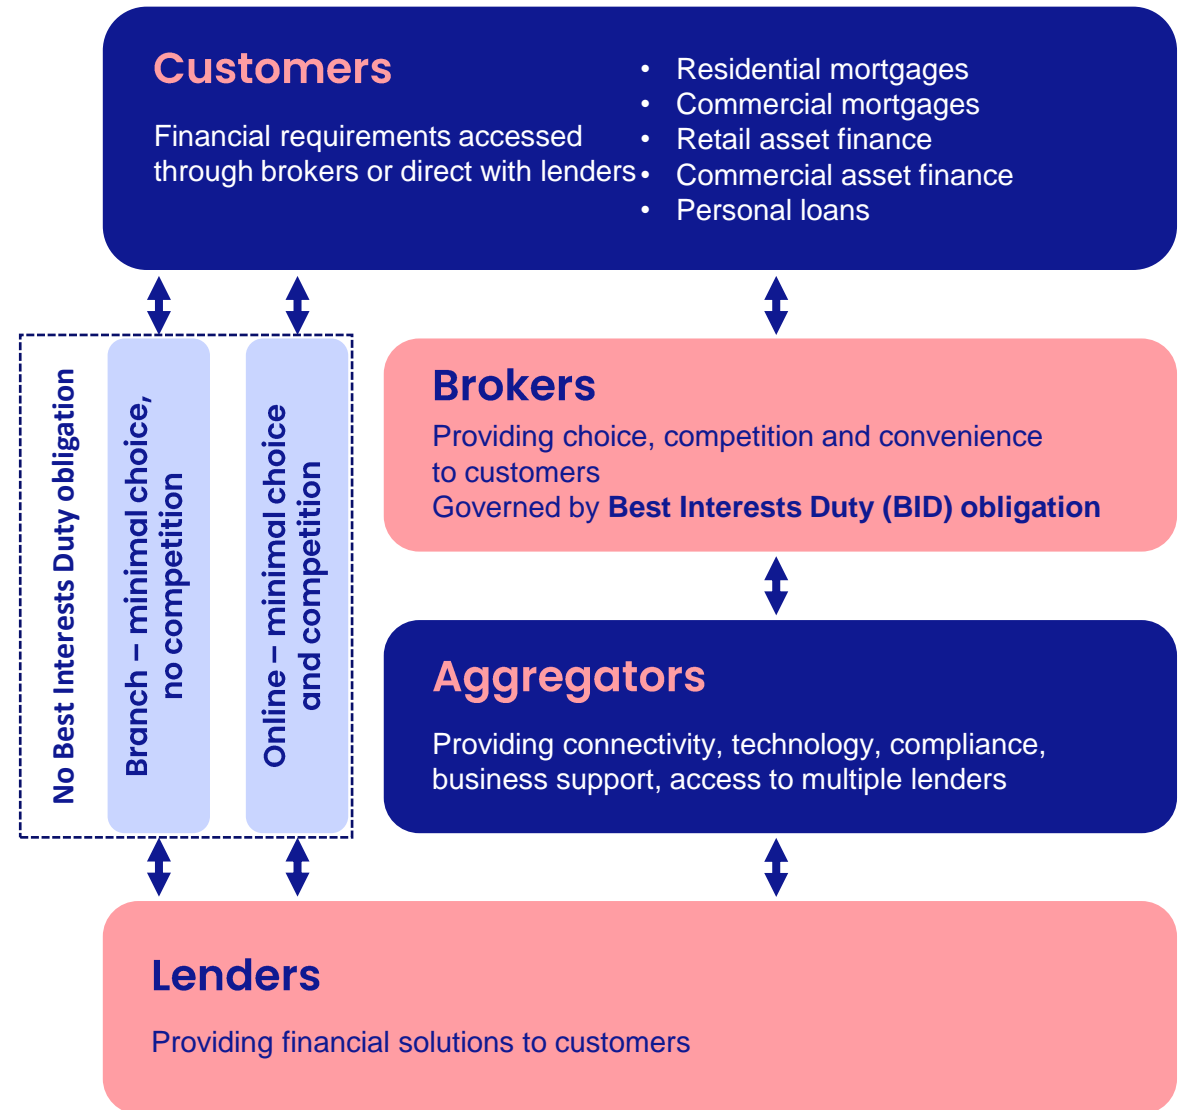

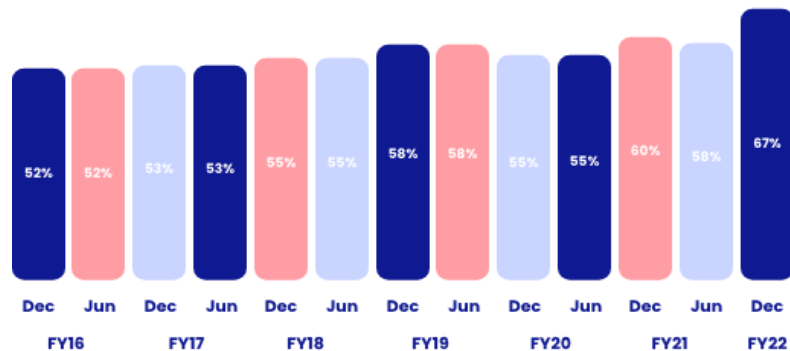

Strategy is delivering results with established track record of earnings growth

The Australian finance industry

- Australian residential and commercial lending markets total over $600 billion. 1 in 10 residential mortgages written through an AFG broker
- Non-bank lenders provide an essential alternative and are now 15% of the residential market – significant opportunity for AFG
- Brokers systemically important to all lenders, including those with branch networks – providing competition and choice
 - Growing number of lenders and complexity of products means brokers are essential to help customers navigate the lending market and secure the right finance solutions to meet their individual needs
- Broker market share continues to grow, 67% in Q1 FY22 up from 50% in FY16

MACQUARIE AUSTRALIA CONFERENCE

Macro economic environment

ersonal use only

AFG is well positioned

Broker and lending market

- A key player in lending market – 1 in 10 Australian mortgages written by an AFG broker
- Australian broker market share 67% at Dec 2021, up from 57% in Dec 2016
- Home ground advantage with extensive industry knowledge

Rising interest rates

- Increased activity in rising interest rate environment - refinancing opportunities - fixed rates to variable
- AFG has historically performed well in rising rate environment

Housing sector

- Residential mortgages generally perform well across the cycle
- AFG has a proven track record of strong arrears performance and low losses compared to peers
- Current AFG loan book is high quality utilising our robust credit process and home ground advantage

Rising rates and residential mortgages

Impact of rising interest rates

- Historically the residential mortgage market has performed strongly during periods of rising interest rates
- Usually coincides with high volumes of lending activity that typically flattens or increases during the cycle
- The market continued to experience system growth during previous period of increasing interest rates (2002 – 2008)

Key positive demand drivers for financing activity

- Refinancing: Increases from 20-30% of volumes to over 30% during times of change in the market
- Fixed rate mortgages: Up to 40% of volume during FY20-FY22. Expected to return to usual level of 20% of volume as rates rise. Equates to approx. $37.6 billion of Residential settlements reaching term and driving refinance activity
- Migration: Net migration expected to increase now borders are open, fuelling further activity in the residential mortgage market
- Broker market share increasing: Brokers continue to win market share as they provide choice, competition and convenience to customers. AFG will participate through ongoing recruitment of broker groups

Residential mortgage activity in a rising interest rate period – Total market

AFG's proven performance in rising rate environment

- AFG's volumes increased significantly and outperformed overall market during the last period of increasing interest rates
- AFG's offering is compelling in a competitive market:
 - ✓ Balance sheet strength
 - ✓ Industry-leading compliance, advocacy and analytics capability
 - ✓ Broader technology considerations - including capacity to harness Open Banking
- Additional opportunities for growth through expanding broking and aggregation in other asset classes, particularly Asset Finance through Fintelligence

Residential mortgage activity in a rising interest rate period – AFG

Opportunity for AFG white label and securitised lending

- Funding markets remain open and attractive. Expected to continue to function normally
- Recent term transaction resulted in greater warehouse capacity and locks in funding for those assets for 5 years at a competitive price below the historical average
- Current variable rate competition appears tactical in expectation of RBA moves in the next 3 – 5 months and is expected to be transitory
- AFG products continue to gain traction in the market. Fixed rate loans are reducing from peaks of 40% towards 20%. As a result, the addressable market for AFG products is increasing
- The approaching $37.6 billion refinance wave fuelled by maturing fixed rate products will present an opportunity for AFG Securities
- Product development in residential and other asset classes will open more markets to deliver growth
- AFG's home ground advantage of data-driven targeted product development and marketing is a key competitive differentiator in terms of distribution and book performance

AFG Term transaction senior note rate

Credit risk and margins

Residential mortgages generally perform well across the cycle

- Residential mortgages perform well even during times of stress such as the GFC
- Lenders have historically responded in rising interest rate environments and adjusted rates to customer to maintain net interest margins

AFG Securities has a high-quality loan book

- Ability to utilize our home ground advantage with extensive industry knowledge
- Loan book is 100% variable and can respond quickly to increases in benchmark rates or funding margins
- Robust credit assessment process
- Low loss history of only $260k incurred since commencement of securitisation program in 2007. $228k of this from legacy loans in the initial warehouse
- Exceptional historical arrears rate below the S&P Global Ratings Mortgage Performance Index
- 49% of the loan book has a balance below $500k and only 11% greater than $1m
- 89% of the book has an LVR below 80%

AFG Securities book – LVR

AFG Securities book – Loan size

AFG Securities

losses and arrears

Losses since commencement in 2007

- $260k in losses incurred with the bulk originated in our initial warehouse, which funded predominantly low doc and high LVR loans
- Product spec post GFC cap LVR at 90% for Prime and 80% (plus Risk Fee) for Low Doc and Non-Conforming Loans

Arrears performance remains excellent

- Only 22 loans in arrears greater than 30 days out of 10,390 loans at 31 March 2022. Loans in hardship sits at 0.16%
- Exceptional historical arrears performance relative to peers and ADIs
- Borrower liquidity position very strong post-COVID with servicing buffers well above likely interest rates increase
- Average borrower is $9,000 ahead in repayments and average offset balance is $33,000
- AFG Securities' borrowers not exposed to "discount fixed-to-variable" shock

AFG Securities Historical losses

	Number of loans	Loss to AFG

AFG Arrears performance

1. S&P Global Ratings Mortgage Performance Index
2. % of book days passed due

Residential mortgage performance

Residential mortgages perform well even during times of stress

- RBA data demonstrates that through the GFC, lending to households and housing loans continued to perform well
- During COVID lockdowns, the banks' loan performance shows that while arrears rates increased, the level of impairment remained stable as these cases can be managed by the lenders

About AFG

Diversified business model continuing to deliver growth in profitability and shareholder returns

- Founded in 1994 as a residential mortgage aggregator, AFG has established a significant Australian mortgage market footprint and has successfully diversified into higher margin manufacturing and distribution across additional asset classes
- AFG has the foundations to continue to grow on the back of high cashflow generation and ongoing diversification
- $550 million market cap supported by strong balance sheet. Net cash¹ and other financial assets totaling $225m

Our purpose

Brokering a better future

- We exist to create competition and financial choice for Australians by protecting and supporting our brokers, and championing the industry on behalf of our brokers

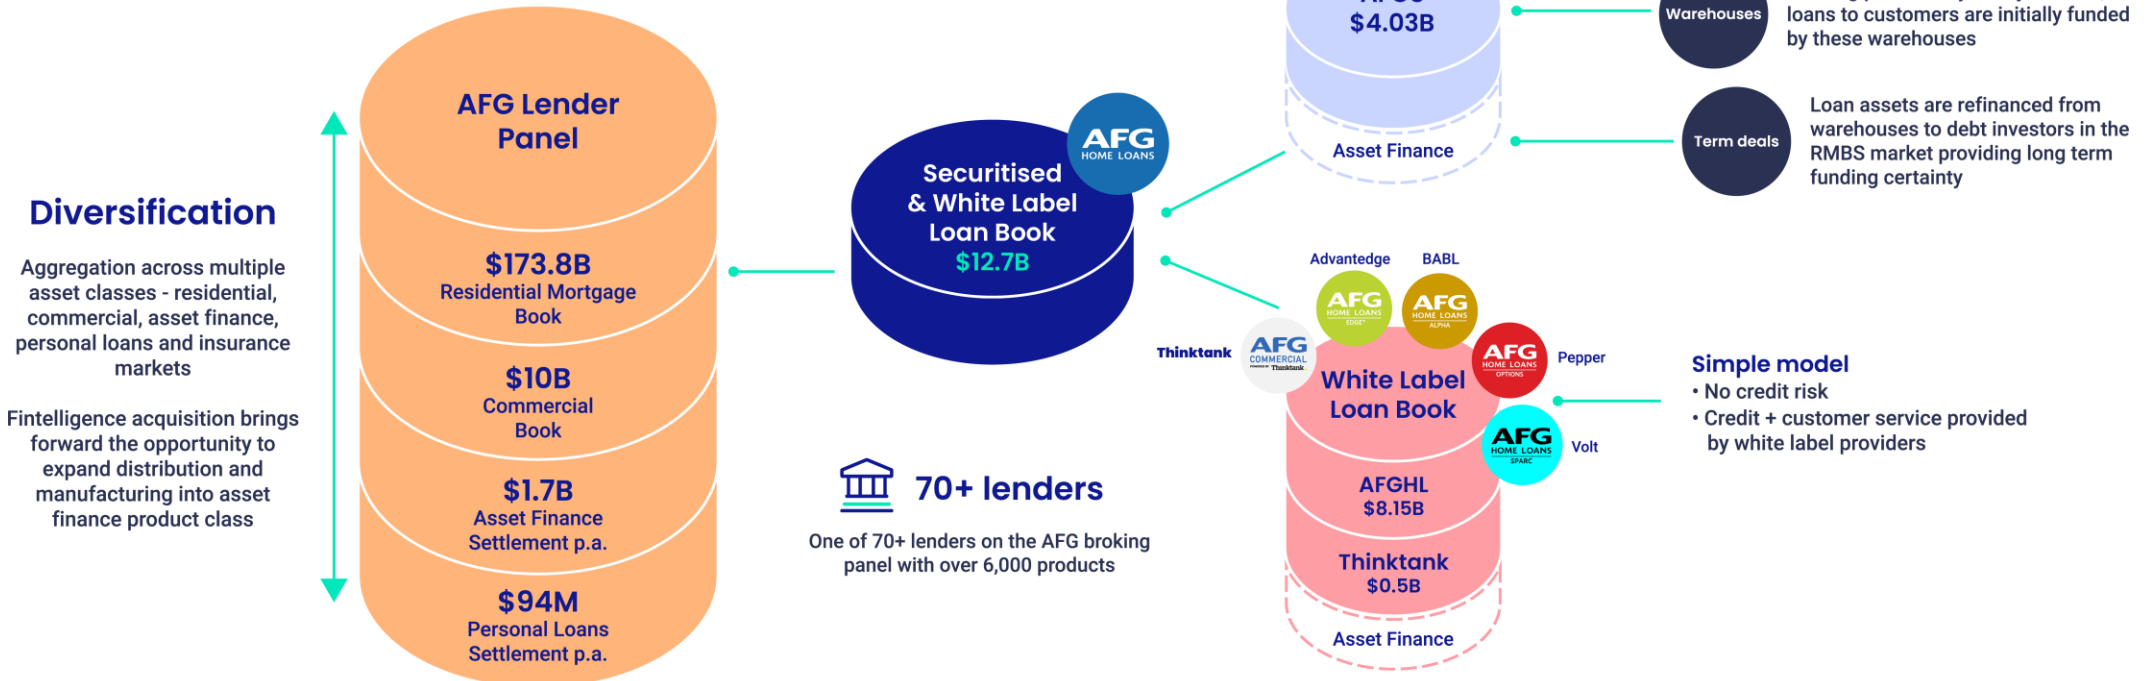

Our ambition

- To be the aggregator of choice for brokers and their customers, and for lenders. To lead the charge and challenge the status quo to create a fairer financial future for all Australians
- We provide a safe and compliant environment for our brokers to build their businesses and to protect their customers and our lender partners
- To drive competition and choice by providing a channel for lenders without branch networks, and by distributing and funding our own financial products for Australian consumers

AFG today

Diversified business model continuing to deliver growth in profitability and shareholder returns

- Cradle to grave
- Underwriting
 - Client services
 - 12 years experience
 - Product development

Warehouses Funding provided by 3 major banks, loans to customers are initially funded by these warehouses

Term deals Loan assets are refinanced from warehouses to debt investors in the RMBS market providing long term funding certainty

- Simple model
- No credit risk
 - Credit + customer service provided by white label providers

Diversification

HY22 results highlights

Diversified business model continuing to deliver growth in profitability and excellent shareholder returns

- Strong financial performance for the half with growing confidence for the balance of the financial year
- Excellent growth in our own branded products with a strong trend emerging of an increased proportion of higher margin products
- Acquisition of Fintelligence brings forward our opportunity to drive future margin enhancement in a new asset class
- Diversification strategy will drive organic growth. Acquisition opportunities will continue to be stringently assessed to ensure commensurate returns and the addition of real earnings value
- Mortgage brokers now the dominant channel at 67% market share. Customers value the competition, choice and convenience a broker provides. AFG is well placed to continue to capitalise on this trend
- Strong cash flow generating capability empowering the confidence to enhance historical dividend policy to a record interim dividend of 7.0 cents per share – an increase of 19% on HY21
- Both major political parties supportive of existing broker remuneration model
- AFG's growing digital ecosystem will significantly accelerate value creation, delivering value to our broker network, our lender partners, and our customers
- $630 million market cap and a strong balance sheet. $225m in net cash¹ and other financial assets

Reported NPAT up
20% to $30.0M

Interim dividend up
