Sydney – 24 July 2023 – BrainChip Holdings Ltd (ASX: BRN, OTCQX: BRCHF, BCHPY), the world's first commercial producer of neuromorphic artificial intelligence IP, today provides the Quarterly Activities Report in conjunction with its Appendix 4C lodged for the quarter ending 30 June 2023.

CEO STATEMENT

The period from March to June 2023 saw accelerated commercial and corporate activity across the Company's global business operations and a strong focus on the development of the 2nd Generation Akida technology platform.

The Company is currently experiencing its highest ever level of commercial engagements, the volume and quality of which are improving rapidly as a larger number of customers learn about BrainChip and our 2nd Generation technology which will be available in late Q3.

BrainChip continued to expand its ecosystem partnerships during the quarter by adding Lorser Industries, CVEDIA, Teksun, Blue Ridge Envisioneering, and Quantum Ventura to its growing number of partners that are taking the unique benefits of Akida technology into both, standard products as well as defining cutting edge new solutions. These collaborations along with a growing number of ecosystem partnerships are essential elements of BrainChip's commercialisation strategy.

BrainChip announced IPro, a leader in IP sales and support in Israel, as its extended channel to serve that high-growth AI sector, and expand its reach in EMEA (Europe, Middle East, and Asia)

On 23 May, BrainChip held its Annual General Meeting in Sydney, Australia. The Company is addressing issues raised by shareholders at the meeting and will engage with key external stakeholders, including proxy advisors and institutional investors, to ensure its remuneration policies are better understood ahead of the AGM in 2024.

On 24 May, the Company announced it had been issued a US patent (US 11,657,257 "Spiking Neural Network"), which is a valuable IP asset that will block competitors from adopting BrainChip-style learning on a neuromorphic chip or a system. The patent protects a learning function of BrainChip's digital neuron circuit using positive and negative synapses. The issuing of this patent brings the current patent portfolio to 16 issued patents and 30 patent applications pending.

During the quarter, the Company participated in, and presented at, several major technology-focused conferences around the world, including showcasing our Edge AI Technologies at the Embedded Vision Summit at Santa Clara, California, which attracted over 1,000 delegates, and presenting a research paper at the IEEE 5th International Conference on Artificial Intelligence Circuits and Systems in Hangzhou, China. BrainChip also presented at the CVPR Conference, a pre-eminent event for computer vision and pattern recognition in Vancouver, and was on the panel at the tinyML EMEA Innovation Forum in late June in Amsterdam

BrainChip was a key sponsor and participant in the Global Semiconductor Alliance Global Leadership Summit in Tokyo on 7 June, and a sponsor of the European Executive Forum held on 14-15 June in Munich. BrainChip CEO Sean Hehir participated in a panel of industry leaders to discuss "New Silicon Design Paradigms".

BrainChip was a featured speaker in the Arm Tech Talk series that showcases industry leaders in various fields as well as an industry expert in podcasts from outlets such as IoTforall.com. BrainChip continues to be a leading speaker for Edge Impulse, a leading platform for Edge AI software development with over 200,000 active projects.

BrainChip published a major white paper entitled "BrainChip examines new approach to optimizing time-series data," which unveiled our unique Temporal Event-based Neural Networks (TENNs) technology. TENNs represents an innovative new approach to achieving greater accuracy and efficiency to complex data models on compact edge devices, including traditional time series applications such as monitoring vital signs in healthcare, denoising audio, predictive maintenance in industrial and forecasting in various verticals, but extending to spatiotemporal data applications such as video and vision.

This white paper is the latest in an ongoing series of educational white papers intended to highlight BrainChip's leadership in neuromorphic AI and Edge AI applications. The 2nd generation Akida technology platform, which will support TENNs, has been developed on the basis of extensive engagement with and feedback from our customers and emerging market need. It will significantly broaden the potential use cases, and the reach of Akida technology. The groundbreaking capabilities of TENNs are a cornerstone of our 2nd Generation platform, the development of which accelerated throughout the previous quarter, with continued feedback from potential targets.

The University of Oklahoma joined Arizona State University, Carnegie Mellon University, and the Rochester Institute of Technology in becoming the latest US educational institution to join the BrainChip University AI Accelerator Program. The program is intended to share BrainChip's technical knowledge and promote leading-edge discoveries and position students to be next-generation technology innovators and potential future Brainchip employees. Interest in our University program remains high, and we are currently reviewing Universities for inclusion from other regions of the world.

In early May, the Company released the first of its Quarterly Investor Podcasts featuring an interview between BrainChip CEO Sean Hehir and Director of Global Investor Relations Tony Dawe. The podcast addresses the more frequently asked questions asked by investors. The next Quarterly Investor Podcast will feature BrainChip Chairman Antonio J. Viana and will be released on the Company website and through social media channels in August.

In addition to the Quarterly Investor Podcast, the Company continues to deliver its series of “This is Our Mission” podcasts to address the broader thematic within the AI sector and gain the perspectives of leading figures across the technology sector. In the previous quarter, the podcasts introduced USC Professor Dr. Gaurav Sukhatme on the theme of “AI and robotics”, and leading technology innovator Geoffrey Moore on the theme of “Embracing Disruptive Innovations with technology”.
