FY25. The USA business is already in, or progressing trials and demonstrations with 3 large IDTF's, with one IDTF using the Somfit device for part of their HST business. The addressable home sleep apnea test (HST) market in the USA is between 3m and 4m HST's a year, representing a market opportunity between $150m(USD100m) and $300m(USD200m) for Compumedics.

Further, the Company has taken an initial Somfit order from a global CPAP player and continues to work with other leading sleep service providers in Australia and other key markets around the world. This includes an initial $200k (EUR120k) Somfit sale in Europe, representing the initial market activity in the next large market opportunity for Somfit.

This Somfit sale into the European market helps underpin the growth in this market driven by sales into the traditional sleep diagnostic market and the neurological monitoring market.
