Sky extends Premier League partnership through to 2034

Sky New Zealand and the Premier League have agreed a six-year extension of their partnership, ensuring one of the world's most followed sports competitions remains exclusively available in New Zealand on Sky, until the end of the 2033/34 season.

The new agreement has been secured with two seasons still remaining on Sky's current agreement, extending a partnership that has brought every match from the world's most-watched football league to fans across Aotearoa New Zealand.

Sophie Moloney, Sky Chief Executive, said: "We know how much the Premier League means to football fans, so we are delighted to renew our agreement for another six seasons. Securing this extension speaks to the strength of the partnership Sky has built with the Premier League, and our focus on securing the content that matters most to our customers."

"The Premier League is one of the world's most recognised sporting competitions, bringing fans a season-long schedule of live matches, comprehensive highlights packages and compelling rivalries that captivate audiences around the world. With 20 clubs competing across 380 matches each season, this deal further strengthens Sky's unrivalled sport offering and our ability to deliver ongoing value for audiences."

Paul Molnar, Premier League's Chief Media Officer, said: "We are delighted to extend our partnership with Sky NZ through to the end of the 2033/34 season. Sky has been a trusted and valued partner of the Premier League for many years, consistently delivering high-quality coverage to supporters across the country. New Zealand is important for the Premier League, with so many passionate and engaged fans of our competition. This long-term agreement reflects the strength of that fanbase and our relationship with Sky. We look forward to continuing to work together to bring the very best Premier League action and programming to fans across the country."
