Fatal Incident at Duketon South

Regis Resources Ltd (ASX: RRL, Regis or the Company) deeply regrets to advise that one of our contract team members was fatally injured while carrying out work at the Duketon South operation on Friday, 6 November 2026.

The thoughts of everyone at Regis are with the family, friends and colleagues of the deceased. Wherever possible Regis is providing support to all those affected by this tragic incident and assistance programs have been activated.

Operations across Duketon were immediately suspended after the incident. Following a staged and safe restart under the site incident recovery plan, all Duketon operations except the Rosemont process plant, where the incident occurred, have now resumed. We are working closely with WorkSafe and other relevant authorities, as they carry out their investigation to understand what happened.

Regis Managing Director and CEO, Jim Beyer, said: "All of us at Regis are devastated by the loss of our colleague on Friday. Our deepest heartfelt sympathy is with the family and with everyone who knew and worked alongside him. We remain committed to supporting everyone affected through this extremely difficult time."
