ASX RELEASE / MEDIA RELEASE

SOUTHERN CROSS MEDIA GROUP LIMITED (SCMG)

BOARD RENEWAL

Southern Cross Media Group Limited (ASX: SXL) Chairman, Max Moore-Wilton, today announced the appointment of three non-executive, independent directors to the SCMG Board. The new directors, Mr Robert Murray, formerly CEO of Lion Nathan and the Kirin/Lion Group in Australia, Ms Kathy Gramp, formerly CFO of the Austereo Group and Mr Glen Boreham, formerly CEO and MD of IBM Australia and New Zealand, will assume their roles with effect from 1 September 2014.

It is intended that each of the new directors will stand for election as a director at the Company's AGM on 21 October 2014.

Following the resignations of Ms Marina Darling and Mr Tony Bell this year, and the advised intention of Mr Michael Carapiet to step down at the 2014 AGM, the Board of SCMG took the opportunity to renew the composition of the Board. An extensive search was undertaken with the aim of enhancing the Board's skillset and bringing more diverse perspectives to the Board's deliberations.

Mr Moore-Wilton, the Chairman of SCMG, said, "We are delighted to welcome Robert, Kathy and Glen onto the Southern Cross Board. Each of them brings considerable management and enterprise expertise, garnered during very successful executive careers."

"We are also pleased to be enhancing the Board's skillset. Robert Murray brings the experience of a public company CEO managing a very significant consumer sales and marketing organisation that became part of one of the world's largest integrated beverage groups. Lion and Kirin are significant advertisers and Robert has a strong knowledge of the changing media and advertising landscape.

"Kathy Gramp is also a strong addition, having a comprehensive understanding of media, and particularly radio, in Australia. As a chartered accountant and former CFO, Kathy also brings considerable financial acumen to the Board.

"Finally, as technology assumes an increasingly important role in the dissemination of media and entertainment, we are very pleased to welcome Glen Boreham to the Board. Glen has a long career with IBM in Australia, New Zealand, the UK and Japan and as an adviser to the Federal Government on media, film and television.

"In a changing media environment, it is important to combine fresh ideas and thinking with the strong corporate and industry knowledge of our continuing Board members. I look forward to working with our new directors and to introducing them to shareholders at the AGM."

The appointment of each of Mr Murray, Ms Gramp and Mr Boreham, as independent directors will bring the SCMG Board membership to eight, including six independent non-executive directors.

Resumés of the careers of each of the new directors are attached to this announcement.

Non-executive director Michael Carapiet has announced his intention to resign from the SCMG Board effective from Tuesday 21 October 2014.

In acknowledging Mr Carapiet's contribution to the company, SCMG Chairman, Mr Max Moore-Wilton AC said: "On behalf of the SCMG Board and management, I thank Michael for the valuable contribution he has made over the past four years and I wish him well in his future endeavours".

Mr Carapiet said he had enjoyed his tenure as a Southern Cross Media Group director but had concluded that his commitments elsewhere from the latter part of this year will preclude him from giving the appropriate time to his directorship.

The Chairman also advised that he intends to step down during the course of the 2015 Financial Year following selection and appointment of a successor.

Collectively, these changes have provided the Board with a significant opportunity for renewal.
